

I am a West Lothian based singer songwriter and have written over 100 songs since the lockdowns began. I have written for artists in the UK, USA, and Canada. I have co-written with many artists from across the globe. I also record and produce music for, and with musicians globally.

I hope you leave the session ready to go off and write your first number one single or polish up some of your existing work but most of all, I hope we have fun. That's what matters most in today's songwriting world.